

Itinerary Generation State Machine Diagram

This state machine represents the end-to-end logic used to generate a multi-day itinerary from user input. After filtering, ranking, clustering, and segmenting POIs, the system performs capacity and constraint checks, with optional repair attempts when needed. A valid itinerary progresses to the accept state, while unresolved violations result in structured error states.

